A Company of

HAMILTON CONSULTING

MISSION STATEMENT

Hamilton Educational Consulting Group strives to make a positive difference in every child that participates in our program. Hamilton and Harris Educational Consulting Group provides one-on-one, individualized and small group tutoring at the home school, private home and community based sites. We provide students with an environment that encourages learning and excellence in reading, language arts and mathematics. We offer tutoring for students in Grades K-12. Our intensive research-based programs will help students improve academically. Our program focuses on test taking skills, study skills and begins with a diagnostics evaluation and is designed to fit the needs of each one of our students.

Hamilton and Harris Educational Consulting Group is an experienced company who specializes in assisting low performing students who are struggling in reading and math. We are proud of our successful record of helping students reach their academic goals which enables them to become productive citizens. Our tutors are skilled, qualified and committed to student goal attainment. We welcome opportunities to work with all students.

The company president is a standing Principal of very successful elementary school who has maintained academic achievement for the previous 5 years. The strength of the company lies with the Presidents extensive experience and ability to train teachers/tutor how to read, disaggregate data and use the data for prescriptive instruction.

Our company has a proven record of implementing successful skills remediation programs which resulted in higher student performance. We work directly with the schools to ensure that students are receiving quality instruction.

Hamilton and Harris Educational Consulting Group is a full service educational consulting firm specializing in the delivery of highly individualized, one-on-one instruction in the at the home school or at the student's home.
